Caution urged after lockdown map is unveiled

Somerset's Director of Public Health has urged people to be 'cautious and sensible' after the Government's roadmap out of lockdown has been revealed.

Trudi Grant has warned that if people act irresponsibly, the risk of virus rates rising sharply again is very real.

Prime Minister Boris Johnson unveiled his plan earlier this week. The first step is the re-opening of schools on 8 March, but the message to stay at home unless journeys are essential will remain.

There will be further relaxations of restrictions no earlier than 29 March, 12 April, 17 May, and 21 June.

But Mr Johnson has made it clear that every step is dependent on tests being met on vaccine targets, infection rates and new coronavirus variants.

Trudi Grant said everyone needs to play their part to make sure these key dates are met, and life can start returning to normal.

New campaign encourages us all to keep going and stay at home

The Government has launched a new campaign encouraging people to keep going and stay at home. It aims to remind people everything they're doing is helping stop the spread of the virus.

The campaign will run across TV, radio, out-of-home advertising and on social media, reminding people that everything they've done – working from home, washing their hands, wearing a mask, maintaining social distancing and video calling – is helping stop the spread of coronavirus and new variants.

Surviving Winter appeal raises record-breaking sum

Somerset Community Foundation (SCF) has announced that the 2020/21 Surviving Winter appeal has smashed its target, raising an incredible, record-breaking £160,000, thanks to the generosity of local donors.

The annual appeal encourages those who can afford to, to donate some, or all, of their Winter Fuel Payment. These donations provide funding and support to our older and vulnerable neighbours across Somerset who, this year due to the need to stay at home during the coronavirus outbreak, are finding themselves cut off from family and friends, and facing higher than usual costs to heat their homes.

The Surviving Winter team at SCF, and their partners, have been distributing funding across the county to those in need. The appeal aims to support more than 700 people this year, helping to keep them warm, safe, and well.

Getting tested

We have had feedback that it is hard to keep track of all the national and local testing programmes and so we have now brought these together into one page on the Somerset County Council website. We hope this will serve as 'one stop shop' for advice on 'Who, When, Why, How and Where' people can get tested for Covid-19.

Support for Somerset residents

Help is available for anyone in Somerset who may need additional support. The five councils in Somerset have been working together since the first lockdown to provide a single phone number for anyone in Somerset who needs Coronavirus-related support.

Residents are reminded they can call 0300 790 6275 if they need any help themselves or are concerned about relatives or neighbours. Lines are open seven days a week between 8am and 6pm.

Reduce the risks and follow advice

It's vital everyone acts to reduce their own risk, and the risk to others, from getting ill with coronavirus.

There's really important information available to help Somerset residents, businesses and visitors take all-important precautions.
